In the private market, Qualtrics raised $400M in funding from Accel, Sequoia, and Insight Venture Partners. Three days before the company was initially scheduled to go public, SAP announced its intent to acquire Qualtrics in what was the largest private enterprise software acquisition at that time. In 2021, Qualtrics listed for an initial public offering on the Nasdaq under the ticker symbol "XM." The company was then taken private in July 2023 in a private equity buyout led by Silverlake.

In 2016, Ryan co-founded 5 For The Fight, the campaign to eradicate cancer by supporting groundbreaking cancer research. The campaign invites everyone to give $5 for the fight against cancer. The 5 For The Fight patch, donated by Qualtrics, was worn on the Utah Jazz jerseys from 2017 to 2023 and was the first philanthropic patch in the history of North American professional sports.
